

AAIDD RELIGION and SPIRITUALITY DIVISION COOPERATIVE RESOURCE EXHIBIT 2007 INFORMATION AND INSTRUCTIONS

Be part of this Cooperative Resource Exhibit at the 2007 AAID Conference in Atlanta!

The goal of the Religion and Spirituality Division's Cooperative Resource Exhibit is to bring together resources from many different organizations and publishing houses that are currently available to anyone involved in ministries or religious services with people with developmental disabilities and their families. Resources can include books, journals, audio-visual resources, religious education curricula, program brochures, etc. We also invite resources on areas such as spirituality, advocacy, ethics, family supports, community building, and education that may be of use to clergy, families, and laypersons in congregations.

We invite you to be a partner with us in the exhibit. Most publishers or resource offices with materials in this area of ministry or service cannot afford the exhibit and travel fees necessary for a separate booth at the AAIDD Annual Conference. This year the conference is May 22-24, in Atlanta, with the theme of Quality Supports. Members of our Division staff the booth during the conference. Your fees for putting resources in the exhibit pay our exhibit expenses, printing costs of the exhibit listing, and, if there is a surplus, support the activities of the Religion Division. The fees are $30 for the first title or item, and $15 for each additional title or resource.

The Exhibit at the AAIDD has proven to be popular each year partly because many professionals, families, and advocates who contact us for resource information are often surprised by the quantity and quality of resources available in the area of religion, spirituality, and disabilities. Attendance is expected to be around 1000. The Exhibit Listing (publisher or organization, titles, address, and phone) is distributed in our Summer Newsletter to approximately 500 people, put on our Web Site, and copied by many as an annual updated resource listing.
